Falmouth City Council discusses police issues

Trick or Treat is scheduled for October 27

By Roger McKinney, Reporter

Falmouth Police Chief Mark Posey announced the promotion of Officer J.P. Tucker to assistant police chief and Officer Roger Nowakowski to captain.

Chief Posey said that the Falmouth Police Department was prepared to create a neighborhood watch program and asked interested citizens to contact him in regard to the matter.

After recommending that the police department hire an additional officer, councilman Jason Gregg, made a motion that the city begin the process of forming an eligible list of applicants. His motion received a second and a roll call vote was taken: Jason Gregg (Yes), Gary Askin (Yes), Mary Ann Pittman (Yes), Darryl Ammerman (Yes) Stan Love (No) and Ernie Richie (No). Thus, the motion passed by a vote of four over two.

Mayor Mark Hart said that a representative from the Northern Kentucky Fire Fighters Association would attend council's September meeting to discuss the organization's Mutual and Automatic Assistance Contract.

"The association," said Mayor Hart, "could perform investigations that would determine if a fire had resulted from criminal behavior."

Civil War veteran's monument once again stands tall in family cemetery

The six-foot-tall, one-hundred-year old tombstone of Pendleton County's Wilson family was lifted and reassembled after tipping over many decades ago. The eldest Wilsons were enslaved in both Virginia and Kentucky, but never gave up their virtues of hard work and diligence, and soon afforded a small farm just southeast of Falmouth. They raised 13 children on the land where they are now buried. John Wilson, buried in the center of the cemetery, was a decorated Civil War veteran.

Their great grandson, Brandon Wilson, returned to Falmouth last year and found his family's cemetery at nature's mercy. Grass had grown tall and trees had sprouted everywhere, one of which was a 65-year-old cottonwood responsible for tipping the one-ton headstone. Brandon arrived back in Falmouth in late June and began work on restoring his family's cemetery. In the hot Kentucky sun and even in the rain, he chopped the wood and cut the grass and pulled the weeds and filled in the foxholes beside the graves.

Brandon says that he would likely still be working had he been alone in his efforts. "My cousin Skipp Taylor really got a hold of a lot of people in town who did a whole lot for me up there. Family and friends and even folks I didn't know helped me out. I owe them all a whole lot of appreciation."

Once the lot was cleaned, People's Funeral Home offered their help in lifting the large Wilson tomb stone back to its towering height. "It was a proud moment to see that stone standing. The folks buried here worked hard and served their country. They deserve it," says Brandon.

He and his neighbors, Miles and Bryson Thomas, are now helping to fence the cemetery from the clumsy and irreverent cows that roam the area.

Only twenty one years old, Brandon says his greatest hope is to one day live on his ancestor's land, which no longer belongs to his family. Until then, Brandon aims to cut the grass and take care of the century-old cemetery for many years to come.

Bass Webb wants guilty plea withdrawn

The August 16 sentence hearing for Bass Webb of Cynthiana took another turn last week. Webb had entered a guilty plea on the day the jury was to be chosen for his murder trial on July 17, 2012.

Webb, 32, is accused of killing his ex-girlfriend, Bryia Runiewicz of Cynthiana, three years ago.

Webb appeared before Circuit Court Judge Jay Delaney in what was supposed to be his sentence hearing. But, before that could happen his court appointed attorney Tom Griffiths made a motion stating that Webb wanted to withdraw his guilty plea.

Judge Delaney scheduled a hearing for September 19. Webb or his attorney gave no reason for the change in his plea. Griffiths did say that Webb has concerns about his guilty plea to murder in the 2009 brutal murder of Runiewicz.

Delaney said he would appoint other legal counsel for Webb but did not give a reason.

Judge Delaney could overrule the motion to change his plea and sentence Webb on September 19.

Webb could have received the death penalty but in a plea agreement he was to receive 50 years.

The murder trial has been moved to Falmouth after a jury could not be seated in Harrison County due to pre-trial publicity.

Gregg's athletic assistance appreciated

For the past five years, Jason Gregg A.R.N.P. has been providing low-cost physicals to the young athletes in Pendleton County. While providing this service has been beneficial to parents, Pendleton County athletics and other programs have also benefitted. Monies raised from this service have always been donated back to these programs and this year he has decided to give the funds raised to Southern Elementary. In the early 1980's, Gregg was a student of Southern Elementary and he believes he received a firm foundation in the subjects of math and science that now allows him to give back to our community. OPINION

Falmouth Wesleyan cleans up Straightshoot

Dear Editor,

It was a privilege for Falmouth Wesleyan Church to pick up the trash on Straightshoot Road on Saturday, July 14 as part of the county trash pickup. 15 of our church members gathered 20 bags of garbage and were blessed by how the rain stopped long enough for us to complete this project. We look forward to helping with this again in the future.

Court won't hear challenge to God reference

The Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, KY - The Kentucky Supreme Court has declined to hear a challenge to a ruling that allows a reference to "Almighty God" in the state homeland security law.

The Courier-Journal (<http://cjky.it/Pxd4WR>) reports that justices issued a brief order last week saying they would not review the case, which was brought by several residents who were represented by the group American Atheists. The order means a ruling by the Kentucky Court of Appeals upholding the reference stands.

The plaintiffs had claimed in a 2008 suit that the law was a violation of constitutional bans on state-sponsored religion.

Franklin Circuit Judge Thomas Wingate ruled in the group's favor in 2009, saying that the phrase violates the U.S. and Kentucky constitutions, but a 2-1 opinion by the appellate court reversed his ruling. In a 2-1 decision, the appeals court said the reference is made to "a generic 'God'" and doesn't "seek to prefer one belief over another."

Edwin Kagin, who is the national legal director for American Atheists, said the order was a disappointment. He says he will discuss with his clients whether to drop the case or appeal it to the federal level.

"What's really frightening about this is it's increasingly clear that these people (proponents of such legislation) want to establish the Christian religion, and they're getting more and more blatant about it all the time," he said.

Homemakers discourage littering

Dear Editor,

The Butler Homemakers picked up four miles of highway and we had fourteen bags of litter. That is a lot for a small side road. It was the same fast food contain-

"Sure, things could always have been done better, but I just wish people would drop their political hammers for a few weeks, as happened in 2001, and work on the problem at hand." - Mitch Daniels ers, beer and pop cans, water bottles and much more. Please take your litter home and dispose of it.

Thanks,
Butler Homemakers

HIGHLIGHTS

Service and sacrifice of the signatories for the cause of liberty and freedom

Among the signers of the Declaration of Independence were many ordinary men who are not notably remembered in history except for their names being on that document. Yet they contributed much to the freedom and independence of the United States we know today. By simply taking a stand against Great Britain, these men were risking it all. They risk their lives, the lives of their families, and all that they had worked to obtain. No doubt they lived with no little fear and great stress as to the uncertainty of where the rebellion against the English king would lead. Wherever their place may have been in our history, we need to see them as real people who shaped the nation we love today.

There were men like Stephen Hopkins of Rhode Island who spoke against British tyranny long before the revolutionary period and mavericks like Samuel Huntington of Connecticut who devoted nearly all of his life to public service and Francis Lightfoot Lee, a farmer from Virginia, who was a noted radical on the side of Patrick Henry in opposing the Stamp Act. Merchants like William Williams of Connecticut and Philip Livingston of New York involved themselves in politics for the betterment of their hometowns and the country as a whole. Williams held the position of the Lebanon town clerk for forty-four years and a Selectman for twenty-five years, serving the provincial and later state Legislature for nearly forty years. Livingston served as an alderman and was elected to the state Senate.

There were men of the courts, Samuel Chase of Maryland, appointed a judge of the Supreme Court and lawyers like Thomas Stone of Maryland, who served on the committee that framed the Articles of Confederation, Abraham Clark of New Jersey who served through the Revolutionary War as a member of the committee of Public Safety, and William Hooper and John Penn of North Carolina. Hooper, a Harvard graduate, represented the city of Wilmington in the General Assembly of North Carolina before attending the Continental Congress in 1774. Penn, with only a rudimentary education at a country school, taught himself from a relatives library and became a licensed lawyer before beginning his own work in politics.

And there were those merchants who used their livelihoods to support the Revolutionary cause as did Joseph Hewes of North Carolina. Having a shipping business in Wilmington, he placed his ships at the service of the Continental Armed Forces.

Many lost much for the cause of freedom. Men like Lewis Morris of New York, a farmer, who had inherited great wealth lost most of it during the war. Morris joined with the patriots when conflict began, siding, in many cases, against his wealthy neighbors. Francis Lewis, a merchant from New York, lost all of his property on Long Island to the destruction of the Revolutionary War.

Carter Braxton of Virginia, another farmer, lost nearly all his wealth in the course of the revolution, partly through his support of the Union, and partly through attack by the British forces. During the War, he had loaned 10,000 sterling pounds to support the revolutionary cause. He has also used his wealth to sponsor shipping and privateering during the conflict, the losses from which eventually resulted in debt. He never recovered, and, in 1786, was forced to leave his inherited country estate for simple quarters in Richmond.

There were those among the signatories who even took their place as soldiers in the American army. Men like William Whipple, who was made Brigadier General of the New Hampshire Militia, and who led them in the successful expedition against General Burgoyne at the battles of Stillwater and Saratoga. There was Edward Rutledge of South Carolina who took leave of Congress in November of 1776 to join the defense of his colony, engaging in several important battles and attaining the rank of captain. In 1779, Rutledge returned to Congress only to take his leave again when the British conducted a third invasion of South Carolina. Resuming his post as captain in the defense of Charleston, he was captured and held prisoner until July of 1781.

Thomas Heyward of South Carolina was also taken prisoner by the British while in command of a Militia force during the siege of Charleston and Thomas Lynch Jr. was commissioned a company commander in the South Carolina regiment in 1775 and soon afterward was elected to a seat in the Continental Congress.

In 1778 George Walton of Georgia was commissioned a colonel of the First Regiment of the Georgia Militia. He was injured in battle and taken prisoner, gaining his freedom in 1779 through a prisoner exchange.

Thomas Nelson Jr. of Virginia while serving as Civil Governor of Virginia was also serving as commanding general of the Lower Virginia Militia. Under his command Virginia was a force to contend with and the skills of the Virginia units were utilized by the Continental Army and French forces in the Siege of Yorktown in the autumn of 1781. Oliver Wolcott of Connecticut, who had been commissioned to serve his country during the French and Indian War rejoined the militia as revolutionary tensions grew. He was made a major and became a brigadier general of the entire Connecticut forces, under the command of the Continental Armies. Benjamin Harris of Virginia served as a lieutenant in his county militia an William Floyd of New York was a member of the Suffolk County Militia in the early conflict with Britain.

However, soldiers were not the only men endangered by the fighting. Men such as Lyman Hall of Georgia has his property burned and was accused of high treason forcing him to flee to Charleston only to be overtaken by the British there. He then fled to Connecticut where he was supposedly harbored by family.

John Hart of New Jersey, had his property looted in the course of the war and when the area was overrun by the British in November of 1776, he was forced to go into hiding for a time. Yet on June 22, 1778, he invited the American army to encamp on his farm, lunching with Washington before his famous Council of War at the nearby Hunt House. Twelve thousand men camped on Hart's fields during the growing season.

CRP Participants May Request Authorization to Conduct Emergency Haying or Grazing of CRP Acres

The USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) announces the opportunity for Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) participants to request authorization to conduct emergency haying or grazing on specific CRP acres. Eligible producers who are interested in applying for approval to conduct Emergency Haying or Grazing of CRP land located in Kentucky must request and obtain individual written approval from FSA before any haying or grazing starts. Participants will be assessed a 10 percent payment reduction on their annual rental payment for the acres actually hayed or grazed.

Interested CRP participants are required to submit a request to FSA and obtain a modified conservation plan to hay and/or graze under emergency provisions. The same acres may not be hayed and grazed under the same emergency designation. Emergency haying or grazing is not allowed within 120 feet of any stream or water body. Specified portions of each field or contiguous fields must be left or grazed with limited stock for wildlife purposes.

Emergency haying or grazing is restricted to specific practices that are 12 months past being determined as fully established by the agency. Participants shall not start any haying or grazing activity until individual written approval is received for the CRP contract request. Approved haying authorization will end not later than August 31st. Approved grazing authorization will end not later than September 30th.

To take advantage of the emergency haying and grazing provisions, approved participants can use the CRP acreage for their own livestock or may grant another livestock producer use of the CRP acreage for the purpose of haying or grazing.

For more information and to request approval for emergency haying or grazing of CRP acres, contact the local FSA Service Center that administers the CRP contract.

Opportunity for Continuous CRP Enrollment of Highly Erodible Cropland

The USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) announced that continuous sign-up for the Highly Erodible Land (HEL) Initiative under the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) started on July 23, 2012. Kentucky received a total allocation of 39,400 acres to enroll in the HEL CRP program. Offers will be accepted until either the state acreage allocation limit is reached or September 30, 2012 whichever occurs first.

This initiative will accept offers with an erosion rate of at least 20 tons per acre per year for new cropland or CRP acres that expire on September 30, 2012; however, existing grass stands that are not considered expiring CRP will not be considered eligible for enrollment. Eligible cropland must also have a history of being cropped 4 out of 6 years, 2002 through 2007.

Eligible CRP contracts set to expire on September 30, 2012, may be offered for consideration and approved contracts will become effective October 1, 2012. The contract duration is also 10 years.

For more information, please contact your local FSA Office or visit <http://www.fsa.usda.gov/crp>.

“Our New Mission is to meet the unique needs of our students through a culture of Expectation, Engagement, and Continuous Growth so every student is prepared for the 21st Century, and a Vision – Achieving Greatness... Wildcats football lose season opener to Carroll County

By Bruce Reller, Jr., Reporter

The Pendleton County High School Wildcats went on the road for their season opener and lost to Carroll County 61-22 last Friday, August 17.

"The boys fought hard. They played one of the best games I've ever seen," Wildcat head coach Terry Brown said. "I'm proud of them."

PC scored all three of their touchdowns in the first half. Junior quarterback Adam Koeninger threw two touchdowns, a 25-yarder to Gary Holland and a 20-yarder to Derek Burton.

Also, Kyle Silbersack ran a kickoff return for a touchdown. The touchdown covered almost 90 yards. Silbersack almost had another long touchdown in the backfield, but he was tripped up from behind.

The Wildcats were only down 35-22 at halftime. They hung in there for one half, but Carroll County was able to pull away in the second half.

"We did create two turnovers, interceptions by Holland and Burton," Brown explained. "We need to be more physical on defense. Offensively, we did well."

Pendleton County did well despite only using 12-13 players in the contest. Also, Silbersack had some lower back cramps and was unable to play in the second half.

Next up for the Wildcats, they will head back on the road this week. They will play against Ludlow this Friday at 7:00 p.m.

"We want to get back on the winning track, go to 1-1," Brown said about his team. "Our goal is to have a .500 season."

Pendleton County volleyball wins glacier invitational

The PCHS Ladycat Volleyball team travel to Brooksville on Saturday to take part in the Lady Polar Bears' Glacier Invitational. And they returned to Falmouth with the first place trophy firmly in their grasp after dispatching Silver Grove, Grant County, Manchester, Deming and Grant County, once again, to go 5-0.

They kicked off the first game of the tournament by dropping a 22-25 match to Silver Grove. But that would be the only match they would lose on the day. They roared back to take the last two matches in the best of three format, 25-18 and a tight 24-22.

The seniors led the way with Sarah Schlueter having 11 kills, Brianna Crouch 19 assists and Jen Owen five digs.

Grant County played the Cats tight in the first match but fell 26-24 but it was all Ladycats in the 2nd match 25-18. Senior Mackenzie Horn got into the action with eight digs while Brianna Crouch and Junior Destiny Shackelford each had three aces.

After Manchester, Ohio was dispatched, Deming was two close scores, 25-23 and 25-21. Sarah Schlueter led with six kills while Destiny and Freshmen Bailey Boden had three each. Brianna Crouch kept setting her teammates up with 11 assists.

Another matchup with Grant County resulted in a close 25-21 decision then a 25-13 rout. Schlueter, five, and Horn, four, led the way in kills while Crouch continuing her sharing with 10 assists and Owen kept digging with five.

The Ladycats are off to a great start with the 7-1 record. They host Grant County today and Bellevue yesterday but results were not available at press time.

BUT WITH YOU THERE IS FORGIVENESS, SO THAT WE CAN, WITH REVERENCE, SERVE YOU.
- PSALM 130:4

BLANKET CREEK
There is power in a praying church. However, where there is prayer and a powerful church winning souls to the Lord, Satan is always there waiting to persecute us. Peter and Paul were persecuted, but kept right on praying and teaching others about Jesus. Prayer is the greatest form of Worship. When you think you have prayed enough get back on your knees and start all over again. We need to pray boldly for the lost. Remember, God hears your prayers wherever you are. God still performs miracles. He sends others to deliver them. Always believe and never give up no matter how overwhelming your situation is. He is always there for you.

Remember August 26 will be our Homecoming. Youth young and old will be attending a baseball game at the Florence Freedom Field August 24. We will leave the church at 4 p.m. Remember our sick and ones added to the prayer list Renee Fardo, Leslie Hertenberg, and the families of Geneva Mattox, Harold Jenkins, Wanda Jenkins, Richard Hammon and Marvin Wright, our military and especially the lost.

BUTLER UNITED METHODIST
Pastor David pleaded with us on Sunday "Please Stop Stealing," for we are all thieves. We are accountable to God. He is truthful to us. Be truthful to Him.

The United Methodist Women met on Friday and elected officers for the coming year. The ladies will be going to a play and of course they will be eating out on September 29. So guys if you want a meal that night you better come with us or get your jar of peanut butter ready.

A big group from the church went to the Reds game on Sunday and afterwards enjoyed the music of Christian artists.

Charge Conference will be held on Sept. 9.

Please keep our dear friend Nevelyn in your thoughts and prayers and please pray that her suffering is minimal.

Others we are praying for include, Samantha and Benjamin, Michelle Caldwell, Renee Fardo, Kelly, Reesie's aunt, Nell Maples, Jim's sister, school and college students heading off for their first day of classes, and Kailyn Adams. Have a great week, we hope to see you Sunday.

BUTLER BAPTIST
We were blessed Sunday by our youth. The youth were in charge of the entire service. Song leaders were Allison Wolfe and Abby Nelson. Pianist was AJ Jacob. Children's message was presented George Pribble and Ashten Wolfe.

Prayer concerns were presented by Brad Willis. Offering was collected by Bryson Taylor, Casey Redden, Jason Wilder and Tyler Nelson. Natalie Colvin presented special music. Matt Plummer and Brent Jacob brought the morning message. Kevin McElfresh said the closing prayer. Youth group meets on Wednesday at 6:30. Come join this exceptional group of young Christians.

FALMOUTH BAPTIST
Greetings from the corner of 4th and Maple. We invite you to worship with us at Falmouth Baptist Church.

Our Sanctuary Choir sang "In Christ Alone" for our special music. It was a perfect lead in to a wonderful message from Bro. Cohen titled "What We Believe about Jesus." As Christians we believe that anyone who is in Christ is a new creation. His death on the cross paid for our sins. We accept as true that by believing in Him we can have eternal life and that we'll never be the same after asking Him into our heart. We believe the Lord Jesus is real. We trust that the only way to God is through Jesus Christ. We believe that Jesus came to save us from our sin, not condemn us. And we believe that Jesus is coming again. Are you ready? Jesus is waiting to come into your heart.

FALMOUTH CHRISTIAN CHURCH
The Falmouth Christian Church opened this service this week with the baptism of it's newest member, Barry Gentry. He was delightfully surprised when four of his cousins from Northern Kentucky joined him to celebrate his joyous day.

Brother Rick's message was taken from the book of Romans and emphasized what we as Christians should be doing daily which is "Living for Jesus." Pete Pullins has been celebrating along with his daughter the arrival of his newest grandchild, a baby girl, born August 2. All are doing fine.

We welcomed back Leva Kidd who had been ill for a week. The Lord answered our prayers for she is feeling much better after her stay in the hospital. Kinder Prep is off and running. It's going to be a good year for everyone here at Falmouth Christian.

Remember all those with special needs this week as you go about your business. Keep them in your prayers. Have a blessed week!

FALMOUTH UNITED METHODIST
Like many men of his generation, Fred had difficulty expressing emotions. He was not a demonstrative person. When problems arose, they were dealt with, and life went on. But when his father died, Fred began to lose his ability to cope.

Even though he soon returned to work, the grief over his father's death didn't subside. Months went by, and he found himself struggling to get through each day. A year after his father's death he was still fighting the tears, but he wouldn't let himself cry. It wasn't until he gave way to his tears - expressed his grief - that Fred was able to heal.

Everyone experiences grief in different ways, but the more we ignore it, the stronger it becomes. Grief is a normal part of the human condition. Expressing our grief is a way of expressing our humanity. Let the tears come.

FIRST BAPTIST
On this beautiful August morning, Chris Beckett blessed us with special music. Bro. Harry's message was taken from Romans. Have we all lost our compassion for others? Do we have a passion for leading the lost to Christ? We need to express love and compassion for everyone. Everyone needs to care about life and have a passion for our Lord. Not caring for others will eventually destroy our nation.

After church, a large group of our members went to each of our schools to pray for the students and faculty for a safe and productive school year. Thanks to Mark and Kelly Grisik for a wonderful cookout before we began our yearly prayer trek.

We have many prayer concerns. Pray for those in need of hope, love and peace.

MOUNT GLEAD
Last week was a busy, busy week. Betty and I had three doctor visits and I preached at Republean Church which is always a pleasure. The trip there and back is full of old memories. There is the house I was born. The barn where the red rooster gave me a good flogging.

I slowed down where I had my first job plowing corn. Dad said "boy we are behind, you go plow that 10 acres of corn." I told him I didn't know how. Old Nig, my favorite mare, taught me well, for the next several years we plowed many acres of corn and tobacco.

Oh there were so many memories. I drove by, slowly the Salem Christian, where we attended. My mom, sister and I were at the baptizing hole on Beaver Creek. I remember the day. What a thrill and proved to be an important event in my life.

I'm thankful to have had the opportunity to baptize Andrew

Spencer Janice Tomlin in the Licking River. Without a doubt baptizing will change one's life. Is it important, I think so. Jesus went to John Baptist in the Jordan River and was baptized. His father, said he was pleased.

It is great to take some time and visit the old home place and enjoying the memories it will bring.

HARVEST COMMUNITY
Sunday's message, "Loving One Another in a Not So Loving World," was based on scripture text John 13:31-35. We are to love others based on Jesus' sacrificial love for us. Such love will not only bring unbelievers to Christ, it will also keep believers strong and united in a world hostile to God. Jesus was a living example of God's love, as we are to be living examples of Jesus' love.

Family Fun Night will be held at 6 p.m., Saturday, August 25 at the Creekside Pavilion.

Prayer concerns: Michelle Caldwell, Steve Hartzel, Gladys Pugh, Josh and Jordan Blackaby, Dave Chaplin, Isabella O'Hara, Renee Fardo and the families of Marvin Wright and Harold Jenkins.

Come be our guest at 111 E. Shelby Street. Sundays: Bible study 9:30 a.m.; worship services 10:30 a.m. and youth group and evening worship 6 p.m.; Wednesday service 6 p.m. Have a wonderful week!

MOUNT MORIAH
You are welcome anytime! Stop by and check us out. We are a Disciples of Christ Church along with Flour Creek Christian, Butler Christian and Morgan Christian. Sunday school is at 10 a.m. and morning worship at 10:45 a.m.

"All other men, even the greatest, the wisest, the best, have been marked by imperfections and sin, but in Christ we have a great High Priest of absolute sinlessness, and in Him we may safely and fully trust." - J.S. Exell

MOUNT CARMEL BAPTIST

As everyone knows that Matt Dade has been deployed to Iraq serving his country. A welcome dinner for Matt has been tentatively scheduled for August 26, following the morning service. It has been tentatively scheduled because we're not sure of the exact date he will be returning home. This will be a potluck dinner and more details will be forthcoming.

ing as they are available. We have placed a large welcome home card for Matt at the back of the church on the table and invite everyone to sign it.

We at Mt. Carmel Baptist Church want to say Thank You and welcome home to the 1204th ASB Kentucky National Guard.

MORGAN CHRISTIAN CHURCH
Scripture today was John 6:35, 41-51, which tells us "Jesus is the bread of life" and when we eat of this bread we will live forever. When we share the bread together at the communion table it can bring us closer to Him and to each other. There is so much violence, conflict and hostility in the world it seems like we are always struggling to find that peace that can only come from God. Let us try to eat more of the bread of Jesus and less of the conflicts that surround us.

Our thanks to Melissa Conway for our special music. Our thanks to Bridget for taking over the children's moments. Thanks also to our volleyball team who play every week. Last week they played Grassy Creek and St. Mary's. The Godman's pig roast had over two hundred people. We were all so very sorry to lose our dear friend Marvin Wright. He is really going to be missed. Remember to pray for all those on our prayer list, our military and our great country.

TRINITY SOUTHERN BAPTIST
Blessings! That's what is going on at Trinity! So many of us have been receiving blessings from the Lord! God is so good to us! We were very blessed to have aviation missionaries Luke and Joy Bryant, along with their family, with us this past Sunday. How amazing to hear just how God continues to "line things up" at just the right time and in just the right way. It has never ceased to amaze me how with just a tiny bit of faith, God continues to meet the needs of his children. The Bible says in Matthew 17:20 that if you have the faith of a mustard seed, so small the mustard seed, that nothing shall be impossible unto you. I absolutely have seen God's goodness and mercy and grace. Come and be a part of the fellowship we have with one another. We can't wait to see what God is going to do next!

REDUCE GROCERY COSTS
You have probably heard that the cost of food is expected to rise next year. You can do several things to reduce your current grocery expenses and hopefully prepare yourself for the expected price increase.

One of the easiest things to do is to plan ahead. That includes making a meal plan for the week and making a shopping list based on the ingredients you need to fulfill your plan. Check weekly store sale ads and product coupons in the newspaper and online to find the best prices for the items you need. However, don't buy something you don't have plans for just because it's on sale. Make sure sale items ring up with the correct price at checkout.

Avoid shopping hungry, in a hurry or with your kids, as all can increase impulse spending.

Wisely choose your shopping destination. For many rural consumers, convenience stores are the most accessible places to shop; however, they typically are one of the most expensive. You might find it is more cost-effective to go to a larger store in a nearby community once month to stock-up on commonly used non-perishable items.

Instead of increasing prices, some companies are reducing their packaging sizes. This can increase your spending, as you will need to replace these items more often. When at the grocery store, check the item's price per unit found on the shelf tag. The price per unit allows you to easily compare the costs of the product based on size. The price may be cheaper in a different size or brand. If your grocery store does not display a product's price per unit, you can easily calculate it by taking the cost of the product and dividing it by its packaging size. Bringing a small calculator may be helpful.

Review your grocery purchases at least monthly to determine total monthly grocery expenses and individual product prices. You may be able to further reduce spending by eliminating things that aren't necessities. Cheaper alternatives may be available for some of the more costly items.

For more information on lowering your grocery bill, contact the Pendleton County Cooperative Extension Service.

SHELLEY MEYER, 4-H/YOUTH DEVELOPMENT

KENTUCKY 4-H'ERS MAKE A DIFFERENCE

Throughout their 4-H career, young people have opportunities to make a positive impact in their communities, state and nation. Civic engagement is something Kentucky 4-H has always emphasized. By participating in civic engagement, young people learn about their communities, community leaders and their role as a citizen. The goal is to help young people become informed citizens and future community leaders.

Many 4-H'ers and 4-H clubs initiate programs or initiatives aimed at improving their city, county, state and nation. In many of these service-oriented programs, 4-H'ers tackle important issues in their communities. Not only are they improving the lives of others, but also, in the process they are gaining valuable skills such as leadership and responsibility.

Some of these programs, like one started by three 4-H'ers in Simpson County, are receiving national recognition. The trio started an anti-bullying program at the middle school in 2010. The 4-H'ers, who had been victims of bullying, shared their stories with the students. While the three have since graduated from 4-H, they've trained others in Simpson County to continue their program. Their program is a model for 4-H anti-bullying programs around the state and was featured by the national 4-H's Revolution of Responsibility.

In another project, a Madison County 4-H'er recognized pre-teens were struggling with their body image as the result of celebrity images they'd seen in the media. She developed a program called True You. It is targeted toward fifth- through eighth-graders with the goal of helping them improve their self-esteem, self-image and self-worth. She introduced the curriculum in 2011, plans to continue teaching it this year in her county and has trained other members of the 4-H State Teen Council on the curriculum.

Many 4-H'ers and 4-H clubs are helping to make their communities a better place. For more information on how you can make a difference through Kentucky 4-H, contact the Pendleton County Cooperative Extension Service.

By: Lovina Eicher
I decided to write for Mom this week. It has been awhile since I wrote the column. I just came home from de-tasseling corn not too long ago. The corn was extra wet this morning since we got all that rain. I don't really mind de-tasseling corn unless it is really tall. August 11 will be our de-tasseling picnic because we will be done.

Tonight I will help sister Susan take our miniature pony that she is training for a ride. She takes it down the road past tractors and big trucks so it gets used to traffic and all noises. Tiny Tim is her newest pony that she is training. He is doing pretty good but he still likes taking us in the ditch once in awhile. I think it is neat to see how different all the pony behaviors are. Tiny Tim has to be trained so it takes a lot of training with him.

She had let Lovina and Kevin go play with the pony so he could get used to little children. Dad is going to grill some pork chops and hot wings for our supper tonight. I always like when he grills because it is always so delicious. Mom is going to make noodle soup to go along with it.

For Father's Day we had a new charcoal grill. He was glad for it because his old one was so wore out. He couldn't shut it down so all the meat would want to burn. Mom was glad to see Dad get the new grill because he likes cooking on it more often. We will probably sit outside and eat while Dad finishes the meat. It always tastes best to eat it fresh off the grill.

In September school will start again. It seems the summer went too fast. I will be entering eighth grade. This will be my last year in school which I am glad. I won't miss the school work but I will miss my friends.

I am looking forward to cousin Albert's wedding. He is getting married to Louanna. I will get to see all my cousins on Mom's side of the family. We don't see all of our cousins as often since we move to Michigan. I hope they will all be able to make it to the wedding. It is always interesting to see how much everyone has grown.

It is so nice to be sleeping upstairs in our bedrooms again since the fire. Susan and I share a bedroom. She painted our walls and ceiling a light green. I like aqua and Susan likes green so I let her choose the color. We still have some organizing to do. We have both been de-tasseling for over a month so we didn't have much time to do it yet. Loretta and Lovina share a bedroom, they both like the color lavender so that is the color of their bedroom. The boys wanted their room blue and Elizabeth's is colored burgundy.

Uncle Jacob's have been preparing for church services at their home, so we have been helping them whenever we can.

This is now another day and I want to bake monster cookies and M & M granola bars. Our friend Barb brought us some M & Ms, we will enjoy them. It will be a treat to us because Mom doesn't buy M&M's often. Sister Susan de-tassled for the last year this year. I am done for this year so I am home helping Mom. We are going to bake bread for church services and can tomato juice today also. Mom also canned salsa this week so we are glad to have salsa again.

M&M's GRANOLA BARS
Ingredients:
• 2 cups quick cooking oats
• 1 cup Rice Krispies
• Half cup brown sugar
• Half cup honey
• Three-fourths cup peanut butter
• Three-fourths cup M&M's
Directions:
Preheat oven to 350.
Mix all ingredients in a large bowl. Press into a greased 9 X 13 inch pan and bake 18 minutes. Cool and then cut into squares or rectangles.

CARD OF THANKS

God and the angels must have been looking over me. It is by the grace of God that I'm still here. I don't know why he didn't take both of us together. But he didn't. Back on April 23rd, my husband, William R. Carroll and myself were in an accident and a month later he died. I need to thank so many people who have been helping me get through this but he will always be in my heart and on my mind. I thank Rev. Kevin Clos, Peoples Funeral Home and staff. Thanks John, also my kids for being with me when I needed them, Wayne Lonaker, Patricia Moneyhon, Missy Randolph and James E. Lonaker. I also thank everyone for the prayers, cards, food and everyone who came to the funeral home. Thanks to the ambulance people, police department, fire department, also all who worked the accident. May God bless you all. My husband will always be dearly missed. - Ethel M. Carroll.
